

Xplore Wins Saguache County Logo Contest

Xplore has won the Saguache County logo Contest! After 100 years without an official seal, the County solicited submissions from all county residents. This design will represent the County on official documents and advertising for years to come, and it reflects both the history and present of our county. The new seal will be unveiled at the Centennial Anniversary of the Saguache County Courthouse Building on July, 16, 2010. Saguache County is located in the beautiful San Luis Valley in south-central Colorado. For more information on Saguache County where the new offices of Xplore Design are located, see the Saguache County website.
